Crime Prevention through Environmental Design

- Alters the environment to take away crime opportunities
- Shows potential criminals “we care”
- Builds relationships among neighbors

Crime Prevention through Environmental Design

Maintain Image: Residents keep their blocks and neighborhood well-maintained to show that the area is cared for, and negative activity will not be tolerated.

Examples:

- Keeping block clean of litter and trash
- Painting murals on graffiti covered walls
- Transforming vacant lot into pleasant green space

Support Positive Activities: Neighbors organize activities and events to make sure their spaces are being used for their intended purposes.

Examples:

- Promote regular programming in a playground or local park
- Hold block parties and community clean-ups
- Work with business owners to discourage disorderly activity in front of their shops

Encourage Natural Surveillance: Neighbors use natural monitoring such as lighting and clear sight lines (as opposed to cameras and police presence) to put more “eyes on the street” and make illegitimate users feel uncomfortable.

Examples:

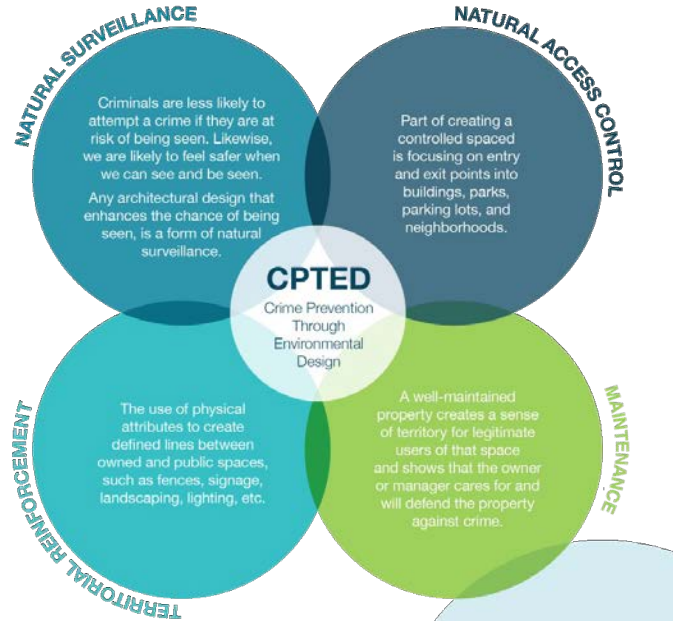

- Encourage neighbors to spend time outside
- Trim bushes/brush to make it easy to see out and inside of windows
- Make sure the block is well lit at nighttime

Enhance Relationships: Neighborhood residents participate in activities that will promote effective relationship-building skills.

Examples:

- Community mentoring programs
- Contribute to your neighborhood association
- Programs for youth that help with relationship-building and social skills
- Community-wide training on trauma

What is CPTED?

The Elements of CPTED

ADDITIONAL IDEAS THAT SUPPORT CPTED EFFORTS

Activity support fosters community interaction. Criminal acts can be discouraged in public spaces when we encourage activities in those spaces by residents, visitors, and other legitimate users.

Corridor Chiefs

*The cleaner and better maintained a corridor, the lower the crime rates and higher the property values.
Many times, we drive on by without even noticing problems, let alone reporting them to the proper agency.
Engaged residents are the key to higher standards and better kept areas*

Duties:

1. Contact Duke Energy when a light is out
2. Report 311 problems on the unassigned areas of the corridor
3. Pick up snipe signs weekly as needed at the intersections
4. Advocate for any infrastructure needs with the County/City

County 311 App

Orange County's smartphone app allows users to submit photographs, pinpoint locations, and report problems to the proper county department.
